

THE INSTITUTE FOR WOMEN'S HEALTH

Who We Are.

The Institute for Women's Health (IWH) is the only family and life affirming women's health policy organization in the U.S. – and possibly anywhere.

We exist to promote the highest attainable health and well being for women throughout every stage of their lives. We tackle the most pressing women's health issues through honest discourse, targeted action, and empowered alliances.

Our Vision.

We envision a world where ideological agendas no longer stand in the way of women and girls living healthy, thriving lives—and where the right of nations to defend health, every life, and family is respected.

What We Do.

We work with nations and influencers who share our common mission to see women thrive everywhere.

Our Work with Countries.

- Partner with countries to promote optimal health for women and girls, family-thriving, and the right of nations to protect these priorities through the IWH model, Protego.
- Encourage mutual action for support of these common values.
- Insist upon transparency for all foreign assistance or programs relevant to women's health and thriving.
- Secure influential U.S. support for the Geneva Consensus Declaration (GCD) coalition.
- Join with Members of U.S. Congress to convene nations in celebration of the anniversary of the GCD in Washington, DC.
